

Reptiles

Research and Creative Writing

- Hey everyone, today is your lucky day because today you get to do something creative. Wooahoo!
- There are many groups of reptiles, all of them very cool. I would like you to choose a reptile that you feel is interesting and then write a creative piece about your animal. You could do a short fictional story, an interview, an article for a newspaper, a story written from the animal's perspective etc..
- You will need to do real research to make sure there is good factual information about the animal but after that the creative part is up to you.

Here's what you should include

- General details about the animal
  - Scientific Name
  - Description of the physical characteristics
    - Special features
    - Size
  - Place where it lives and habitat.
- Specific details about how it lives: Choose and report on a minimum of 3 of the following categories.
  - Feeding and Digestion
  - Support and Movement
  - Circulation, Respiration, Temperature Regulation
  - Nervous and Sensory
  - Excretion and Osmoregulation
  - Reproduction and Development
- Add a picture of the animal
- Minimum 2 sources
- Due next Friday... have fun!
